Health super, (AIA)

Dear Sir/Madam:

Re: Claim Number 422279

On 28 February 2008, I was involved in the following incident: Health super detriment needs to be rectified and paid another $83000 immediately with interest from 2008.

Health Super owe me another unit of cover from 2008 payout of one unit of cover of $83000.

I was only paid one unit and it should have been two as that was the standard units of cover in 2007 the year before product disclosure statement.

It states in the product disclosure statement in 2007 that two units are standard and my calculations of how much insurance I paid reflect this.

It should have been two units of cover as detailed in the 2007 product disclosure statement as standard cover.

Likewise my exit statement at the time says that over a 9.2 week period that I paid $21.07 in death/TPD insurance as of 19/12/2007.

$21.07 for the 9.2 or so weeks equals 2.2. this equals 2.2 units paid for and is in line with the two units of automatic cover that TPD and income assist were.

I also paid $12.68 income assist. This equates to two units of cover at max monthly payment of 41000 if I earnt at least $14,118.

That means that I am still also owed another unit of income assist from the time for the period of my illness.

A compound interest calculation of only the extra unit of TPD cover at $83000 on 5% interest calculated daily over 15 years = $92,701.98.

The total amount to be paid is approximately $175,701.98.

That is without the income assist which will be $1000 a month for a year = $12000.

That's $83000 plus $12000 = $95000 initial investment at 5% interest for 15 years.

That equals: $199374.95.
