<h3>Archive Development Objectives</h3>

The archive seeks to increase public accessibility, historical preservation, scholarly engagement and responsible educational use through continued documentation, publication, indexing and preservation efforts.

The Trust recognises that objective evidence of public engagement and utilisation provides a stronger indication of archival significance than unsupported estimates of value. Accordingly, download statistics, audience analytics, scholarly citations, ISBN registrations, DOI registrations, media coverage and documented licensing activity are regarded as important indicators of the archive's development, recognition and practical utility.

These measures may assist researchers, publishers, documentary producers, educational institutions, archivists and other interested parties in assessing the archive's reach, impact and historical significance over time.
